

Abstract of the Disclosure

In an examination conduct information storing unit, examination conduct information, which is 5 information occurring by conducting an examination in a medical institution, is stored, each time the examination is conducted. A totaling unit calculates a total amount of time required for conducting the examination, which is indicated by the examination 10 conduct information stored in the examination conduct information storing unit.